

Our pain can't wait. Fix joint replacement waiting times.

Tens of thousands of people with arthritis face an agonising wait for a joint replacement. Knowing when surgery will happen gives people vital hope and certainty. People in England have an NHS right to start treatment within 18 weeks. But many people are waiting far longer, often in unbearable pain. And now there's a risk that the existing guarantee to treatment will be taken away.

A petition to: The Secretary of State for Health and Social Care

Keep our NHS treatment guarantee, reduce waiting times and improve access to joint replacement surgery.
